POWERS AGAIN TACKLE RUSS PROBLEM

CANADA HAS INDIAN UPRISING

Pottowatomie Indians are marching on the Canadian National Park of Point Pelee, Ontario, claiming title to the park, several thousand of the best farming acres in Canada, and making a demand for $300,000 treaty money they say is due. Canadian troops and mounted police were ordered out to stop them. The warriors are direct descendants of Chief Joseph Brant's red skins, who as allies of the British in 1812, crossed the border, burned Buffalo, and massacred many Americans. Pictures show (upper) group of the tribal chiefs, (lower left) Honorable Charles Stewart, Canadian minister of the interior, who refused the Indians' demand that the land be given them, and Chief Levi General (otherwise known as Chief Deskaheh), principal spokesman for the Indians.

Three More Rail Unions Talk Strike

CHICAGO, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—While three sets of strike ballots rolled into Chicago headquarters of the six railway shop crafts unions, three other railway labor organizations were preparing today to call for a strike vote following an anticipated wage reduction expected from the labor board tomorrow.

The new decision, which is expected to lop from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 from the pay of 325,000 clerks, signalmen and stationary firemen and oilers, will complete a series of three wage reduction orders, all effective July 1. Pay cuts reaching $110,000,000 already have been ordered for 400,000 shopmen and 500,000 maintenance of way laborers.

Ballots for the shop men and track laborers are being marked all over the country and by next week three other groups will have joined in the ballot marking if the plans of union executives are carried out. At a conference in Cincinnati last week, eleven unions decided on a strike vote in protest against the July 1 wage cut. The shop men, however, subsequently added two more questions to their ballots, piling up a triple barreled vote.

Although tomorrow's decision will cover train dispatchers and other supervisory officials, no reduction is expected for that class of workers and the maximum cut for a class is now estimated at not more than five cents an hour.

Europeans Convene At The Hague For New Parley

THE HAGUE, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The conference which is to consider Russian affairs was called to order in the Peace Palace this afternoon by the Dutch foreign minister, H. A. VanKarnebeek. Sixty delegates, representing about thirty countries, were present.

THE HAGUE, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—All Europe centered its hopes today in the opening of the international conference which is dedicated to the task of making practical arrangements for the re-entry of Russia into the concert of nations.

The at least temporary failure of the efforts at Paris to organize an international loan for the restoration of Germany has undoubtedly served to augment the pessimism obtaining in many countries concerning the prospects of making definite agreements with soviet Russia on such vital matters as credits, the treatment to be accorded to property held by foreigners and the payment of the Russian debts.

Hope To Reach Results

Nevertheless, determination was evident among the delegates gathered here for the preliminary meetings to make every conceivable effort to

Seek To Stop Ship Liquor Sale

WASHINGTON, June 15 — Attorney General Daugherty will be asked for a new ruling on the question of the sale of liquor on shipping board vessels, it was indicated today at the treasury.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Continuation of the policy of selling liquor aboard American ships "justifies" the charge that Uncle Sam is engaged in "bootlegging," Representative Cooper, Republican, Ohio, declared today in a statement that he would support an amendment to the ship subsidy bill to stop it.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(By the Associated Press) — Definite steps through legislation to stop the sale of liquor upon American ships were started today through presentation by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, of an amendment to the merchant marine bill, which would cut off the government aid provided in the measure from any such vessel carrying intoxicating liquors or beverages.

"Take Your Measure for a Coffin," Sends Innocent Man To Death!

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEARLY 4000 men have been executed in this country since 1890. Approximately a hundred more will go to their deaths this year. Will there be any innocent victims of the law among them? Will there be another Blue Horse Tavern case.

LATE one autumn afternoon a number of men were gathered in the bar-room of the famous Blue Horse Tavern—the gayest place between Albany and Schenectady, N. Y.

Two of the heaviest drinkers, Wickliffe and Blake, got into a quarrel. It started over a trifle, but ended in a scuffle.

Turning at the door, he shouted to Blake:

"My boy, you may take your measure for a coffin. After this, you will need one."

Everyone heard him and laughed.

After a few more rounds of drinks, the party began to break up. Blake started for home. He lived on the same road as Wickliffe about five miles from the tavern.

Knife in Hand

Several others went in the same direction.

They were lagging behind when they suddenly heard a loud cry. Galloping on they soon came across Blake kneeling by the side of Wickliffe—murdered!

In Blake's hand was a bloody knife.

He was arrested and charged with the murder of his friend.

At the trial, Blake testified that he had found the body of Wickliffe with a knife plunged into his breast. In horror, he screamed for help, pulled out the weapon in order to stop the flow of blood. He did not know who had committed the murder, but he was sure that he had not.

Reach Verdict

The jury, without leaving their seats, returned a verdict of "guilty."

Blake was executed.

Three months later, the judge who presided at the murder trial and the principal witness for the state were called to the county jail. A prisoner under sentence of death wanted to see them.

He made a full confession.

He told how he had held up Wickliffe, killed him when he struggled, and established beyond a doubt that Blake was an innocent victim of the law.

Mob Again Seeks Slayer

LANSING, MICH., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A squad of state police officers today continued to stand guard at the city jail where George Straub, alleged confessed slayer of Miss Alice Mallett, was held in safety last night as several score of Jackson men demanded the prisoner. Local officers also were on duty in all streets in the vicinity of the jail to disperse crowds or prevent demonstrations that might lead to another attempt at violence.

The band of Jackson men left that city by automobile late last night for Mason, county seat of Ingham county, where they believed Straub had been taken, but were informed enroute that the prisoner was still held at Lansing. They came to this city with the knowledge the prisoner was strongly guarded and no attempt was made to rush the jail, members of the band contenting themselves with a look at Straub, who was routed from a peaceful sleep and brought into a corridor.

Harold Mallett, brother of Straub's alleged victim, led the visitors.

Straub will be held here, it was indicated, until his arraignment on a charge of murder, brought against him Tuesday at Jackson. Although the prisoner talks but little and apparently endeavors to baffle his questioners, the authorities announced they were making headway toward substantiating the confession he is reported to have made Monday night to Prosecuting Attorney Grover Hatch, of Jackson.

The officials, however, take little stock in a second confession he is said to have made, in which he named Clarence Meadowlark, a negro circus employe, as an accomplice. Meadowlark, also in custody, is said to have proved an alibi.

Convicts Torment McGannon

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Penitentiary convicts do not as a rule hold much love for the average criminal court judge and Ohio penitentiary prisoners are reported to have made prison life so miserable for William H. McGannon, former chief justice of the Cleveland municipal court, who was sent to the prison for perjury in connection with his trial for the murder of Harold Kagy, that McGannon has had to be segregated.

According to reports, the prisoners abused McGannon at every opportunity, even going so far as to throw pebbles in his face when they would meet him in the prison yard. At meal time throwing bread in McGannon's face is said to have been a favorit sport.

"I have heard rumors of this nature, but I did not investigate them," said Warden Thomas today when asked concerning McGannon. "I have had McGannon sent to the prison hospital, where he is being treated for diabetes. While his condition is not srious, McGannon is not a well man."

A number of McGannon's fellow prisoners from Cuyahoga county, are said to have faced him in court while he was on the bench.

"Baby Mine"

Break In Coal Wage Parley

NEW YORK, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The break in the wage scale negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the anthracite coal operators appeared irreparable today as the union members prepared to leave for their homes. That the suspension of the hearings means a strike was the opinion of both sides of the controversy.

"There is no prospect of any meeting between our people and the operators," said Thomas Kennedy, president of District 7, of the United Mine Workers at Hazleton, Pa.

Mr. Kennedy said that the next move was up to the coal operators, but that he did not expect any more proposals from that end.

"We will await the outcome of the strike vote which will be completed the 22nd of this month," Mr. Kennedy added, "and report on the voten at Wilkesbarre on the 26th."

Between 150,000 and 175,000 miners are out now.

The union delegates at the meeting yesterday refused to entertain a proposal from the operators that the entire wage controversy be submitted to arbitration of a committee appointed by President Harding. The conference then adjourned without future date when the operators refused to negotiat further except upon the arbitration basis.

One Of Those Good Pollard Comedies With Late "International" News

This Motoring Is A Gay Life

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Taylor and Mrs. H. S. Grimes with their driver started out Wednesday evening for a drive, intending to to make a circuit via Harrisonville, Stockdale, Beaver and Piketon into Portsmouth. They made the circuit all right, but met with a variety of mishaps on the trip that caused them to get home at 12:30 instead of 8:30 as planned.

First the party took a wrong road between Harrisonville and Stockdale and as a result inspected the White Gravel neighborhood. They finally got into Stockdale at dark and then started anew, headed for Beaver. Two miles from Beaver the party got off the main road again, and headed valiantly for Germany, Pike county. One mile from Germany a young creek cuts its merry way across the road, and in its bed were stone very active, sharp pointed rocks. Of course one was right on the job and punched a hole in the bottom of the crank case, allowing all the oil to run out. This was fortunately discovered at once, and a stop made at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfarr near by, from which place a distress call was sent to Bob Wynn, garage man at Piketon. Newell Cutler, the jasper garage man, happened to be at the Wynn garage at the time and the two drove out with plenty of oil. In the meantime an old felt hat and a sheep skin came in handy for a temporary patch. When the oil came the party was able to make Piketon where the break was welded and soldered by Mr. Wynn, enabling the motorists to travel on to Portsmouth, reaching home at 12:30.

There is a lot of scenery on the road traveled, but it is a long, long road.

Serious Mishap; Drivers Fortunate

Charles Evans, well known carpenter of 1321 Kinney's Lane and Earl DeLong of Carey's Run are still wondering how they came out of a serious automobile accident at Waller and Fifteenth streets Wednesday afternoon with only slight injuries, considering the fact that the Ford car DeLong was driving turned over on its side while the big touring car Evans was driving turned upside down with Evans caught under the machine. Minor bruises and scratches were the only marks the drivers have to show for their collision although the two machines show plainly the effects of a serious wreck.

Evans was driving down Waller street hill on his way to work on Eighth street shortly after the noon hour and DeLong driving for Roy Bellamy of Carey's Run was on Waller and turned to go down Fifteenth street. Evans claims that he coasted down the hill and says that his machine had almost cleared the intersection when the Ford struck the left rear side of his car. Evans claims he saw one machine clear the intersection but failed to clear the second one which figured in the accident.

The big touring car was turned upside down in the middle of the street while the Ford turned over on its side against a telephone pole on the west side of Waller street just south of Fifteenth. DeLong was thrown out of the Ford. Evans was caught under his machine but the top was up and it held the machine up just enough to allow him to crall out. After getting out Evans found he was not seriously injured and crawled back under to stop the engine and get his keys.

The Evans car had the top badly damaged, running board broken, three fenders mashed, left rear wheel broken, windshield smashed, and body dented and hood damaged.

The Evans machine was taken to a garage while Bellamy had his car taken to his father's home Tenth and Chillicothe streets.

Helen Allen was awarded a prize for pinning the tail on the donkey. Little Miss Helen Smith, dressed in a bright colored tartlon dress, delighted the guests with several fancy dance numbers.

At five o'clock the children were invited into the dining room where they were served with delicious ice cream and cake. Roses and sweet peas were used to advantage in decorating the various rooms, the dining table was especially lovely with its decorations of pink and white. A large white birthday cake mounted with nine pink candles centered the table and streamers of pink and white crepe paper formed a pretty overhead canopy. The favors were tiny pink baskets filled with mints and the place cards were hand painted in the same color.

While there the Knights Templar of Michigan held their annual conclave and gave their competitive drill on Belle Isle, a beautiful and spacious athletic field. Mr. Frostick says two trucks were coming from Columbus and were stopped by tourists, who asked to borrow a bucket. While his driver was getting a bucket, Mr. Kelso came down the pike closely followed by parties in a Buick, the two cars coming very fast and apparently racing. The Kelso car side-swiped the truck, damaging the side of the car. Mr. Frostick says that the persons in the car his driver was aiding, whose names were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dickerson, are ready to testify to the above and that all eye witnesses absolved his truck driver from blame.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS SAY GOOD-BYE TO PORTSMOUTH

With the taking down of street and building decorations and the departure of delegates and visitors by each train leaving the city traces of the twenty-third annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans are fast disappearing. The encampment closed with Wednesday morning's session and most of the delegates left yesterday afternoon and evening. Many were here in machines and left yesterday afternoon for their homes in the northern and eastern parts of the state. A few will remain for short visits with friends made at this meeting or former state-wide meetings.

A small number of delegates and visitors attended the farewell dance held for them at Millbrook park last night by Blanchard Anderson, manager of the dance hall there. The public was charged admission while the delegates and visitors were admitted free. All money realized from the admission charged the public was donated to Peerless Camp, S. W. V.

The boys' band from the Xenia home gave a farewell concert in front of The Times building last night. While here the boys received many gifts from local merchants. The boys were quartered in the basement of the Second Presbyterian church while here. They left this morning in four big army trucks for the Xenia Home.

Army Captain Convicted

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles A. Ritzman, of Detroit, Mich., formerly a captain in the army in charge of the maintenance division of the motor transport corps, was convicted today by a jury in the District of Columbia supreme court on an indictment charging bribery. The jury found that he accepted $800 from C. R. Standley, of Boone, Iowa, to influence the purchase during the war of $100 000 worth of skid chains and skid fasteners for the government.

The jury acquitted Ritzman on two counts of the indictment which alleged that he solicited the bribe. Motion for a new trial will be filed, his attorney announced, and Ritzman will remain at liberty on bail.

According to the testimony, Standley in November, 1918, came to Washington to learn who he was not getting more orders and after conversations with Ritzman reported his suspicions to the military intelligence office and the department of justice. He was given $800 of government money to hand to Ritzman in a local hotel room in which a recording device had been installed. The money was marked and was paid over to Ritzman while the machine recorded the transaction.

In his defense Ritzman testified that he was suspicious of Standley and led him on to the offering of the bribe money. He intended, he said, to turn over the $800 to his superiors, but was arrested before he could do so.

Roberts Convicted; Sentenced

It required a jury in Common Pleas court less than fifteen minutes Thursday morning to return a verdict finding Everett Roberts, negro, guilty of assault and battery upon Miss Lillian Kincaid, a white girl living at 303 Court street. Promptly upon the reading of the verdict Judge Thomas called the defendant before the bar and sentenced him to three months in the county jail and assessed a fine of $100 and costs.

Miss Kincaid, the prosecuting witness, told the jury that Roberts grabbed her leg as he passed her riding a bicycle while she was standing on the corner of Fourth and Court streets between seven and eight o'clock on the evening of April 8 and she was positive in her identification of the accused.

Miss Cora Clevenger, young white girl, living at 707 Front street, the only other witness called by the state, testified that Roberts grabbed her as she walked along Washington street on the same night.

Roberts stoutly denied their statements and sought to establish an alibi by attempting to prove that he was elsewhere at the time and could not have possibly have committed the assault complained of. He claimed that he was at the Lincoln theatre to engage in a dancing contest at the time but failed to prove to the satisfaction of the jury that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The accused was defended by Attorneys R. A. Taylor and E. M. Gentry, the latter making his initial appearance in court since being admitted to the bar last December.

Mr. Frick Gives Reasons For Resigning; Directors To Take Action Tuesday

President Adam Frick of the Chamber of Commerce in resigning sent the following letter to the Board of Directors:

June 12, 1922.

The Board of Directors,
Chamber of Commerce,
Portsmouth, Ohio.

My Dear Sirs:

It has been said that those of experience should grant the use of their names as candidates, especially at this time. By reason of experience and the service rendered previously perhaps the request that I become a candidate for the legislature, the law making division of Ohio's government comes up to me.

Consent having been given, I must position myself now that the civic duties incumbent upon me shall not be to my advantage as a candidate or in any way disadvantage others who may be called into the contest. I purpose a free expression of every elector when duty calls them to make their choice.

In the seriousness of thought it is apparent therefore, that I tender my resignation as president and a director of the Chamber of Commerce. This I do realizing that you will measure the thought as it presents itself to me in fairness and approve the request.

Respectfully submitted,
ADAM, FRICK.

The Board of Directors have the resignation under consideration and will not take action on the matter until next Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Directors. It is understood that considerable pressure is being brought to bear on President Frick to continue at the head of the Chamber at least for the remainder of his term. During this week the directors will endeavor to obtain the opinion of many members of the organization on this important matter and will be guided by that opinion next Tuesday. The Directors as a whole feel that inasmuch as many plans have been outlined for the work of the Chamber of Commerce intends to do this year that the resignation of President Frick at this time would be a big setback to those plans.

Talk Strike

Mr. Jewell declared that the railway employes were convinced that "certain sinister influences" have been at work for the last two and a half years attempting to maneuver the railway workers in a position where there might be hope of crushing the railway shop unions.

"I think this is the time for us to determine whether or not organized labor can be crushed without killing every individual member of the unions," said Jewell. "The railway workers are ready for the test."

The miners' strike as well as the threatened rail walk-out was brought before the convention, which unanimously adopted the motion of W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, president of the street railway employes, expressing indorsement, sympathy and hope for the miners in their strike.

William Green, secretary of the miners' union in a brief review of the strike said the miners "have not given an inch" and he added that the miners' fight was the fight of all organized labor.

"We have the fixed determination" continued Mr. Green, "to go on with the strike to a finish. Before we would accept lower wages and worse working conditions, we would rather fight and lose than not to raise our voice in protest. Before we are through with our fight it may be necessary for us to ask this convention for more than moral support in the form of something substantial."

Pessimistic View Of U. S. Political Tendencies By Weeks

CLEVELAND, O., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A frankly pessimistic view of some of the predominant tendencies of American political thought was voiced today by Secretary Weeks, of the war department, at the commencement exercises of Western Reserve University.

In an address, which he said he was tempted to entitle "The Decline of the American Government," the war secretary declared the drift of recent years was gradually weakening the nation's governmental structure by undermining the constitution and sweeping away the principles of party responsibility.

The direct primary "bloc" agitation and the country's readiness to accept constitutional amendments were instanced by the speaker as furnishing evidence that the government was leading away from its ancient social democracy.

Legislative Branch at Low Ebb

As one result, he asserted, in the public mind, "the legislative branch of our national government probably never has been at lower ebb than it is today.

"The direct primary," he continued, "has so palpably lessened the quality of men willing to serve in public affairs that prompt action should be taken to greatly modify or entirely repeal it."

Turning to the "bloc" movement in politics, Mr. Weeks declared that when a party comes into power promising to do certain things and then finds that groups break away from party allegiance whenever their own interests seem to be directly involved "there is an end to responsibility in government."

Fail To Improve Constitution

In its attempts to improve upon the work of the Fathers by amending the constitution, the secretary said, the country had "failed signally."

He added that in the matter of popular elections "We have run riot" and he suggested that much of the present unrest and uncertainty seemed to center in taxation and prohibition.

By way of preface, the secretary said his philosophizing applied to no particular party and that he spoke not as a government official, but as a private citizen exercising his privilege of free speech.

Text of Address

Following is his speech in part:

"I am greatly disturbed by the departure in recent years from the government of the constitution, I construe it, to other forms of government which have a decided tendency towards complete social democracy. While I have no fear about the ability of our government to endure, I must admit that I am very pessimistic about the result of the present trend, which I can not but believe is gradually weakening our governmental structure and may eventually change its character.

"In order to be truly progressive, many people conclude they must be continually moving. We have in this country a large number of reformers, many of them professional reformers, who are rushing about trying to reform everything and everybody. Of course, there are conditions which need correction, but often the suggested cure will result in greater evil than the existing evil it is designed to correct. A legislator should resist all such schemes to the point of being a reactionary.

Cannot Vote Intelligently

"Another and more indirect introduction of a complete democratic government is the submission of legislation to the individual citizen through the referendum. Another example is the recently adopted initiative. The truth is that the people are too busy, the question are too difficult and perplexing and the task too involved to enable them to pass intelligently on such matters.

"In its platform in 1920, the dominant party promised to reduce taxation. In some respects it has failed to do so, not because a large number of Republican senators and congressmen did not wish to carry out the pledges of their party, but because of a combination of a part of the majority devoted to a special interest with the minority in congress and insistence on their part that income taxes, generally speaking, should not be reduced.

"Then there is the constitutional amendment relating to prohibition. Whatever may be the individual views of citizens on prohibition there is no question about the disquietude resulting from the adoption of this amendment and the laws for its enforcement. Taxation and prohibition have affected the individual pocket book of the voter and his personal rights and privileges as he views them and the natural result is criticism and dissatisfaction with government. I do not comment on the ultimate wisdom of the prohibition amendment, but it is indicative of a very palpable fact; an abrupt change in a matter affecting so many citizens can not be made without creating violent opposition and resulting in much criticism of the government."

Name
Determines Real Tire Value

You cannot tell in advance from outward appearance, the mileage a tire will deliver, but you may judge it from the name on the sidewall.

Because the name Firestone is giving its most definite assurance of Most Miles per Dollar this year, it is influencing a greater following than ever.

It spells a two-way saving few can afford to neglect. It means more miles than could ever be bought before. And it means the lowest price at which quality tires can be legitmately sold.

It assures too, the most reliable construction the industry has produced—the staunch, double gum-dipped cord carcass where friction is reduced to the minimum and strain under load is evenly distributed by a superior method of curing on air-bags.

The sales of Firestone Cords naturally are mounting constantly, for new users everywhere are beginning to enjoy the mileage which has for years been the dominant Firestone characteristic. You can buy Firestones now at lower prices than ever in the past.

Steel Orders Are Accumulating

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 15—The Iron Trade Review today says:

Need for increased production of iron and steel is becoming more pressing as orders still are accumulating on makers' books. Moreover in some directions it is apparent the lengthening period of shipments is tending to hold back the placing of new business. Operations practically are held in check at 70 to 75 per cent on the average. There is good ground for the belief that the situation soon will have a strong effect in stimulating greater efforts toward a settlement of the present coal strike.

The question of deliveries continues to dominate the steel market. Western buyers of steel bars have been placing orders at Pittsburgh because of the heavily sold conditions of producers in the Chicago district. Automobile builders have placed orders for sheets in the Mahoning valley at Pittsburgh. The leading Chicago independent has advanced plates $2. Outside of the Steel corporation mills, all producers of plates, shapes and bars now are naming 1.70c Pittsburgh or higher. The Sinclair interests are inquiring for 5 tanks requiring 18,000 tons of plates and the Marland Oil Co. for 29 tanks, involving 8,000 tons. Large inquiries are pending for pipe lines but the continuing shortage of bessemer steel is holding back business.

Small changes continue to be registered by The Iron Trade Review's market composite of fourteen iron and steel products. In the past six weeks the advance has only been 24 cents per ton. The figure this week is $36.74.

The iron ore situation has been clarified this week by the simultaneous reduction of 10 per cent in railroad freight rates from mines to upper lake ports and of 50 cents in the season's selling price of ore. The new ore prices were determined by a sale of 300,000 tons by a leading Cleveland operator. As a result of these developments the furnaces are ordering ore forward freely and a large tonnage which has been under reservation has been converted into contracts. The reduction in freight rates and in ore prices combined will allow a saving to the furnaces of from $1 to $1.50 per ton of pig iron, depending on their location. For valley furnaces the amount will be about $1.25 per ton.

British producers have refused offers from the United States of less than 4 pounds 10s or $20.20, the prevailing price for 5000 tons of Middlesbrough pig iron. A Pacific coast buyer however has closed for 7500 tons of Belgian rerolling billets.

Body Of Man Found On Top Of Passenger Train

TOLEDO, O., June 15—(By the Associated Press)—The body of a man believed by police to be that of Francis Bowman, of Califon, N. J., was found, face downward, on top of the club car of the Twentieth Century Limited train of the New York Central lines, when the train arrived at the Union station here early today. Car inspectors discovered the body while making an examination of the train.

Coroner Charles Heuzeler expressed the opinion the man had been dead four or five hours before the body was found and believes death was caused when he was struck by an overhead bridge between Buffalo and Cleveland. The top of the head was torn off and the body was covered with cinders.

In the man's pocket was a letter addressed to Francis Bowman, Califon, N. J., from his mother in Omaha, Neb., and a picture of himself in a sailor uniform.

The man, who was about 32 years old, was well dressed and it is thought he was making his way home when killed.

Plan To Tighten Up On Credit In Buying Engagement Rings

CLEVELAND, O., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Engagement rings will not be so easy to buy on the installment plan if the policies outlined by the conference headed by Gabe Hauserman, of New Orleans, are carried out by the Retail Credit Men's Association in Convention here.

"Jewelers are too lenient in giving credit and allow too much time for payment", was the decision of heads of credit departments from jewelry houses all over the country. "Often the honeymoon is ended long before the engagement ring is paid for."

The convention closes today with the election of officers. David W. Awl, of Detroit, was nominated president by the nominating committee and his election is said to be assured.

McCUMBER CHARGES HUGE FRAUDS PERPETRATED ON AMERICANS BY IMPORTERS AND DEPARTMENT STORES

WASHINGTON, June 15—Metropolitan newspapers, especially of the eastern seaboard, and importing houses and department stores of the country were attacked in the Senate today by Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, who charged that they were spreading an "insidious and poisonous propaganda" against the pending tariff bill to further their selfish interests and to maintain "extortionate profits."

Assailing particularly New York, Boston and Philadelphia newspapers, the committee chairman said that the Republicans had decided to change their policy of keeping silent on the subject of profits and were now ready to meet arguments, especially of the "so-called Republican press which have so capriciously condemned this bill."

Senator McCumber's speech precipitated replies from the Democratic side and brought a resolution by Senator Walsh, Montana, calling upon the Attorney General to advise the Senate whether steps had been taken or were to be taken to establish whether a conspiracy existed among the interests mentioned by the North Dakota Senator. The resolution asked that if such combination existed, prosecution of those suspected be instituted under the anti-trust law.

The resolution went over a day under Senate rules.

Underwood Makes Reply

Senator Underwood, Alabama, the Democratic leader, characterized the tariff leaders' stands as "most remarkable and entirely new in tariff discussion." He declared that on the position taken by Mr. McCumber the Republican protectionists had left no longer any appeal to American manufacturers or labor.

"The senator has shown," said Mr. Underwood, "that the profit taken by some of these people ranges as high as 2,200 percent. If that be true, how can he or his committee expect to protect American labor with fifty percent duty. What appeal has he left to the American manufacturer. I say if his statements are true then his committee have perpetrated a gigantic fraud on the American people."

McCumber Shows Frauds

The McCumber speech came at the end of a day of little progress on the tariff bill. He appeared with numerous articles usually imported for sale by a department store. Using these articles, on which both the foreign and retail selling prices here had been obtained, as examples to illustrate his speech, he described what he characterized as "the enormous frauds perpetrated on the American people."

Article after article was held up before the senators. There was a cuckoo clock made in Germany, Mr. McCumber said, for 94 cents and sold in New York at $22; a string of pearls from France costing $12.25, and sold here at $150; electric bulbs made for 5.3 cents and retailed in America at 30 cents, and others.

These Fight The Bill

"And the men who handle these are the men who are fighting this tariff bill," Mr. McCumber shouted. "They don't want to give up robbing and taking the very life blood of this country."

The press, especially those in New York and Boston, are afraid to tell the truth. Why do they print articles and editorials to deceive the American people. Because their life blood depends upon the revenue from their big advertisers and their big advertisers depend upon their prosperity upon the cheapness with which they can buy things abroad and upon the high prices they can get in the American market from the American consumer."

The Senator absolved "the great majority" of the newspapers of blame in spreading the opposition argument.

Pastor Forsakes Wife And Nine Children And Elopes With 18-Year Old Boarder

XENIA, O., June 15—Rev. Walter W. Culp, 35, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Spring Valley, nine miles southwest of here, and Esther Hughes, 18, a boarder at the Culp home, eloped at 2:30 o'clock this morning, according to Mrs. Culp who aroused neighbors two hours later and told them what had happened.

"I think I like her better than I do you and I think I am doing the right thing by leaving you and going with her," Mrs. Culp said was her husband's parting assertion.

Today Mrs. Culp planned to take her nine children, ranging from 14 years down to twins six months old, and return to her former home at Wakarusa, Ind. "I am just going to let him go," she said. Mrs. Culp said she sat up all through Tuesday night and watched the preparations of the couple to leave, afraid to tell of the elopement because her husband threatened to take the children with him if she did. She said she had no idea of where they might have gone. They left in Culp's automobile.

Girl Taught Music

Rev. Culp, she said, was formerly a Mennonite minister at Greenville, Ohio, where he met Miss. Hughes, said to be the daughter of J. T. Hughes, an attorney. Later he transferred to the Methodist conference and was assigned to the Spring Valley church last fall. Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Culp said, he brought Miss Hughes to Spring Valley and established her in his home and obtained a class of piano scholars for her to teach.

Mrs. Culp said she and her husband were married 14 years ago and one of their children is dead.

The superintendent of the Methodist conference at Springfield has been requested to supply the church with another pastor.

Summer Ceremonial Of Knights Of Khorassan To Be Held At Waverly

Members of Meemtum Temple, No. 217, Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorrassan met in their Temple, Fourth and Washington streets, last night and transacted considerable business. There was a record breaking attendance for a June meeting. After disposing of routine business the place and date of the mid-summer ceremonial was decided upon. Waverly was the place selected and July 15 was the date set for the big time. All committees appointed were instructed to lay plans to make this the biggest ceremonial ever held by the local Temple.

Ralph G. Johnson is chairman of the committee on entertainment and he is sure to see to it that there will be plenty of "eats" and entertainmen for all members, candidates and visitors. George Gulker is chairman of the transportation committee and he is to see that arrangements are made to carry to Waverly all members, Tyros and visiting members who intend to make the trip. The usual parade and stunts will be big features of the day and they are sure to be right up to the minute with John Kah as master of fun and the Eighth Order and the rip-roaring Bilgands. There will also be plenty of public entertainment. By that date the local Temple expects to have its own brass band well organized and ready to take part in the ceremonial. John Kah is to be the leader of the band and he promises an organization that will be second to none in southern Ohio.

A communication was read from the Ohio Association of D. O. K. K. secretary announcing that a state conclave of all D. O. K. K. Temples will be held in Columbus in September. This state meeting will be conducted along the same lines as the Imperial Palace or national meetings. Each Temple is to bring a big class of candidates.

candidates, plans being made for a class of 1000 from all sections of Ohio. There will also be a competitive drill for degree teams. The local Temple will soon begin plans to send a big delegation to this state-wide gathering of Dokies.

Nation Faces Coal Shortage

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—"The state of the coal supply above ground" demands a conference of miners and operators in the very near future, John L. Lewis, president of the United ine Workers of America, said here today.

"The nation faces a coal shortage of unparalleled intensity," Mr. Lewis declared, adding that only the sultriness of summer weather is keeping the public from realizing the peril of the situation.

Powers

reach the results which the Genoa conference did not succeed in achieving.

The representatives of the principal countries, excepting Russia, were scheduled to assemble in the Peace Palace at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and there begin their labors of studying the problem which will be presented to the Russian delegation at the joint meetings to open on June 20.

Although Holland disclaims any intention or desire of directing the conference, Foreign Minister Von-Karnebeek will deliver the opening address as temporary president, welcoming the delegates to The Netherlands and voicing Holland's sincere wishes for the success of the conference.

Russia Tickles Problem

Chief interest centers in the harmonization of the attitudes of England, France and Italy on how to approach to the soviet delegation officially, for France shows a disposition to adhere tenaciously to her Genoa demand for suitable guarantees from the Bolsheviki before undertaking to renew official relations with Russia.

France objects to the soviet memorandum, submitted to the Genoa conference on May 11, which attacked the capitalistic systems of the other countries and charged these nations with doing many things, confiscating property, for example, equally drastic with the Bolshevik measures to which they objected.

The French would like to see this memorandum withdrawn by the soviets before official pourparlers with the Russian delegates again are inaugurated.

Italy And Britain Conciliatory

Great Britain and Italy apparently are ready to pursue a more conciliatory policy. The preliminary meetings beginning today, therefore, promise to be most important.

As the delegates enter the Peace Palace one of the first objects to greet them is a simple marble bust of Andrew Carnegie in a niche at the head of the grand staircase, and in the balcony is a striking bronze statue of Christ—an emblem of peace and good will among men. This impressive figure is a duplicate of the famous Christ of the Andes, and was presented by Argentina.

When the Bolsheviki arrive they will find near the main portal a reminder of the regime they overthrow, in the form of a great marble vase, which was presented to the Peace Palace by the late Czar Nicholas.

M. VonKarnebeek called the conference together in the hall used by the International court of justice, which the court graciously turned over for the use of the conference.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Operation Avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had such pains that I had to be turned in bed every time I wished to move. They said an operation was necessary. My mother would keepsaying: 'Why don't you take Pinkham's, Henrietta?' and I'd say, 'Oh, mamma, it won't help me, I've tried too much.' One day she said, 'Let me get you one bottle of each kind. You won't be out very much if it don't help you.' I don't know if youwill believe me or not, but I only took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine when I began to get relief and I amregular ever since without a pain or a headache.

When I lie down I can get up without help and without pain. I can't begin to tell you how I feel and look. I have begun to gain in weight and look more like I ought to. I think every day of ways I have been helped. Any one who does not believe me can write to me and I will tell them what shape I was in. I am ready to do anything I can to help your medicine."—Mrs. HENRIETTA MILLER, 137 Sprague St., Dayton, Ohio.

Ship Liquor

known here today through representatives of the firm.

Demand Congressional Probe

The local company has made numerous requests for a congressional investigation into violations of the prohibition act. O. A. Remmers, general counsel, said, and is prepared to produce witnesses to support their charges.

Adolphus Busch III was today waiting to receive the letter of Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board, in answer to his first letter, which accompanied that of his father, written aboard the steamship George Washington and later sent to the president. Mr. Busch last night gave the Associated Press his answer to Mr. Lasker's letter, taking it for granted that Lasker's letter had been printed correctly in newspapers here. Whether or not Mr. Lasker will reply to the second letter of Adolphus Busch III early today was unknown here. A reply, however, representatives of the firm here announced, was anticipated, although no controversy is being sought with Mr. Lasker.

Original Letter From A. A. Busch

The original letter of August A. Busch with that of Adolphus Busch III, were printed in circular form and mailed to various newspapers throughout the country last week. On the first page a cartoon of Uncle Sam with a club in hand held in front of him and labelled "Prohibition Enforcement" was shown. In the other hand, behind him, Uncle Sam held a bottle to which a tag was attached, with the label "Shipping Board Hooch for Sale." The cartoon was entitled "Versatility."

The first and second pages of the folder carried a letter of August A. Busch, written aboard the George Washington, in which he said the United States was "incomparably the biggest bootlegger in the world" and the letter of his son, Adolphus Busch III, who declared it a violation of the prohibition law and Volstead act for shipping board vessels to sell liquor while flying the United States flag.

Offer "Some Evidence"

Other pages of the folder display an editorial of the Chicago Tribune, which was mentioned in the letters of Busch and Lasker, and the facsimile of a liquor list of the United States steamer George Washington, in which a number of German wines and beers are listed, together with "American moonshine whiskey" at "thirty cents a pony": letters from the Munson steamship line answering queries that their South American passenger steamers carry the American flag and serve liquors, together with a letter from Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, to Oliver T. Remmers, counsel for Anheuser-Busch, Inc., occupy two other pages of the folder. The back page is taken up with the open letter to congress renewing the request of the brewing company for an investigation of the violations of the prohibition law.

Up to Prohibition Leaders

WASHINGTON, June 15—With Chairman Lasker adhering to his stand that the sale of liquor on shipping board vessels at sea will continue until he "has been convinced of its illegality," any action in the matter apparently was left today to prohibition leaders in congress. While the correspondence exchanged on the subject between Mr. Lasker and Adolphus Busch III, vice president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery company, St. Lewis, continued to provoke discussion among the dry members, it was reported that their first move to stop the sale of liquor on American vessels would attempt to secure an amendment to the ship subsidy bill before the merchant marine committee. It was rumored that this probably would be made today, although its defeat there was generally predicted.

That the issue would have to be met when the subsidy bill is taken up in the house, however, was said by friends of the measure to seem certain, unless it is considered under a rule barring from consideration all amendments except those offered by the reporting committee. Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, has publicly announced that he will offer an amendment providing that no part of the federal subsidy fund shall be used by steamship lies on whose ships liquor is sold.

After a conference with Attorney General Daugherty late yesterday, in which the matter of liquor sales at sea was said to have been discussed only incidentally, Chairman Lasker said he would not ask the department of justice for a new opinion on the question, being entirely satisfied with that rendered by General Counsel Schlesinger, of the shipping board, upon which, he informed Mr. Busch in their correspondence, the board had taken its stand in the matter.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—What do you think of a woman who will run around and leave her children with a woman who is half cracked, and not capable of taking care of herself? The woman I have in mind has a good husband, and he works every day, and he doesn't like the way she neglects their children. I feel sorry for the husband as he wants to do what is right. What do you think about it? The neighbors have something to do with their trouble. M. Y. T.

Don't waste too much sympathy on the husband or the neighbors are liable to start something on you. If he doesn't like the way the children are treated he should settle the matter with his wife and not with the neighbors. Maybe the woman who is supposed to be "half cracked" has more sense than you think she has.

Dear Dolly—We are four boys aged 18 to 21. We were down in front of the postoffice the other night and three girls came along and flirted with us. We spoke to them and went up Gallia street to Gay, out Gay to Tracy Park and there stood our three friends. We all started to talk and then the street car came along and spoiled everything. They got on the car headed for Millbrook Park. Dolly, we wondered if you could tell us the names of these girls. They were nice looking. PORTSMOUTH BOYS

Why didn't you ask them their names. Since they were bold enough to speak to you, they would not mind a little thing like that.

Dear Dolly—I took your advice as given in the paper the other night, and marched right up to my husband when he came from work and gave him a great big bear hug, and he nearly had heart failure. I did not write that letter to you, but I have the same kind of a husband to contend with. Right after the honeymoon two years ago he began to act like a man who had been married for fifty years, and never paid no more attention to me than if I were the servant in the home. Dolly, you can imagine how he felt when I give him the bear hug. He did not get mad as I thought he would. He seemed to enjoy it as much as I did, so I think I will just keep it up.

HAPPY WIFE

Here's hoping all neglected wives will go and do likewise.

Dear Dolly—Do you know anything that will keep clothes from running together. Dolly, tell me something that I might put in a tubful of colored clothes, such as children's gingham dresses, etc. It is too much trouble to wash them separately.

TIRED MOTHER

A tablespoonful of black pepper stirred into the first suds in which cottons are washed will prevent colors from running.

Dear Dolly—Should a girl thank a boy for coming home from church and taking her a machine ride? If not, what should she say to him? Is it proper to invite a boy back again when he just stops in a few minutes some afternoon or evening?

IN DOUBT

You might say that you enjoyed the ride or something to that effect. It is perfectly all right to say stop again, or call again or whatever comes to your mind when he is leaving, that is if you want him to call again.

ANXIOUS TO KNOW—The man you inquired about is a member of Bigelow church.

SOCIETY

The following account of the wedding of Mr. William J. Whalen, a former well known resident of this city, and a brother of Mr. P. J. Whalen of Sixth street, and Miss Margaret Smith, is taken from the Huntington Herald-Dispatch:

"Miss Margaret Smith, beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Smith, of the South Side, and Mr. William J. Whalen, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's church, with the Reverend H. B. Altmeyer officiating. The wedding will take its place among those of this spring and summer as one of the most beautiful and impressive solemnized in this city. St. Joseph's church was decorated in ferns, roses and gladiolas. Silver baskets on either side of the altar were tied with pink tulle and held pink gladiolas and ferns, artfully arranged. Smilax was also used to advantage. Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Ethyle Nash at the organ, was the signal for the advance of the wedding party, led by Mrs. Ray Fulton, matron of honor. Mrs. Fuller wore a becoming gown of ecru lace over pink taffeta and crepe de chine. Her large picture hat was of graceful lines. She carried beautiful lilies and roses. As she approached the steps to the altar, Miss Eleanor Smith, sister of the bride and bridesmaid, came down the center aisle. She wore a girlish and pretty frock of pink organdie over white satin. Her large picture hat heightened the beauty of her pretty features. She carried a beautiful bouquet of roses. Following the bridesmaid was little Miss Marjorie Whalen, who scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. Miss Whalen wore a fluffy blue organdie and a bewitching blue organdie bonnet. Miss Margaret Smith came down the aisle on the arm of her father, Mr. James F. Smith, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in an elegant and distinguished gown of pearl beaded oyster gray cantou crepe. Her wide pink hat framed a face of exquisite and fascinating beauty. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses and valley lilies. Her only ornament was a platinum and diamond bar pin, a gift from the groom. The bride was met at the altar by Mr. Whalen on the arm of his best man, Mr. Ed Whalen, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Then followed the nuptial mass and ceremony, which were marked by simple elegance. Hammerel's Mass of the Blessed Sacrament was sung by a choir which included Miss Mildred Johnson, Mrs. E. J. Rogers, Mrs. Joe Ryan and Miss Minnie Grace Monarch. Schubert's Ave Maria was sung for the offertory by Miss Minnie Grace Monarch, accompanied by Miss Ethyl Nash. Miss Monarch wore a frock and hat of orchid. Miss Nash was attired in grey crepe and brown taffeta and wore a close fitting plumed hat. Ushers who officiated were Mr. Hamilton Bruce, Mr. Harold Smith, Mr. Harry Shifflette and Mr. Earl Shifflette. Following the ceremony the bridal party left the church to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's wedding march. A wedding breakfast of salad and ices was served at the Smith home at 10:30 o'clock. Guests on this occasion included forty relatives of the families. Considerable merriment resulted from the cutting of the wedding cake, which held the usual fortune-revealing articles. The Smith home was decorated in ferns and white gladiolas. Mr. and Mrs. Whalen left last afternoon for a ten days' wedding tour. They will later be at home at their newly furnished residence in Hyde Park, Cincinnati. Mrs. Whalen's going-away costume included a dark gray gown of crepe knit, whose Parisian clan was heightened by unusually elegant accessories. The bride has been very popular in Huntington society for several years, because of her lovely disposition and winning ways. She has rare charm and dignity of manner and her many friends and acquaintances will be sorry to hear that her change of residence takes her from Huntington. She graduated in 1919 from the Huntington High school. Mr. Whalen is an influential young business man and is connected with the Central Glass Company of Cincinnati. During the World War he saw eighteen months' service in France with the motor transportation department. Mr. and Mrs. Whalen received many practical and handsome wedding gifts, including two chests of silver and quantities of silver, cut glass, linen and household furniture. Among out-of-town guests present for the wedding were Mr. Ed Whalen of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Whalen and five children, of Portsmouth, O.; Mrs. Will Curry, of Point Pleasant; Mr. J. Harold Smith, of Hinton, W. Va.; Miss Edith Cundiff, of Hinton; Miss Laura Quenseberry, of Hinton; Miss Gertrude Lipscomb, of Hinton, and Miss Katie Lipscomb, of Hinton.

Mrs. John Wente and daughter, Dorotha, of Fourth street have gone to Cincinnati, where they will spend several weeks with relatives.

Miss Gladys Lemon of Schirrman Hospital will leave Friday for Blue Island, Ill., where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lemon.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Modes of Today)

A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package. Mix fresh as wanted.—Advertisement.

The guimpe 3801 is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The Dress 3793 is cut in 8 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. MARRIAGE A LA MODE

The June bride in Thibet has no tedious period of shopping or social activity.

Her wedding ceremony is simple. The young man makes a proposition of marriage to her parents. If they approve, the whole family repairs to his home, where his friends meet and they carouse for three days. This constitutes the wedding.

Again the Christian Endeavor Society of the Second Presbyterian Church will entertain with one of their delightful picnic parties tonight.

The Endeavorers and their guests will assemble at the church at 5:30, and travel in machines to the scene of activity.

Among other things, swimming will form one of the diversions of the evening.

Picnic lunches furnished by the ladies will be of such character as to more than stay the pangs of hunger.

About fifty young people are expected to make the trip.

Miss Katherine Ridenour is chairman of the committee which plans and operates these delightful affairs.

Mrs. Otto Y. Coriell of 1158 Ninth street returned this morning from Ironton, where she went to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Beatrice Helen Selb and Mr. Albert Jerome Muth of Columbus, which was beautifully solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic church Wednesday morning at half after nine o'clock. Rev. Father Gloeckner officiated, with Rev. J. H. Cotter and Father Cusick of Ashland, Ky., assisting, at the nuptial high mass, which followed the ceremony. The bride wore a lovely white satin gown, draped with a scarf of real lace and ornamental pearl medallions on waist, pearl sleeves with a wealth of silver and pearl embroidery, formed a magnificent bridal array. A long train embroidered in pearls and silver butterflies and orange blossoms was fastened to the waistline with ornaments of pearls. Kitten-ear satin slippers, with real lace butterfly bows and ostrich feathers, were a charming accessory to the dress. The wedding veil was overdraped with a dainty real lace veil fastened to the head with a coronet of pearls and real lace. She carried a shower of white orchids, lillies of the valley and bride roses, bound together with strands of filmy lace ribbons. Her traveling attire included a handsome French model of dark blue with bright red accessories.

The four bridesmaids were Miss Regina Macklin of Columbus, Miss Aime Leinesch of Dayton, Miss Kitty O'Neil of Ashland, Ky., Miss Grace Court of Columbus. Miss Lorna Muth, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and little Alberta Schachleiter was the flower girl.

The bride and groom accompanied Mrs. Coriell as far as Portsmouth this morning, enroute to New York City and other places in the East, where they will spend their honeymoon. The bride is very popular in her home city and was the recipient of many social favors previous to her marriage, including dinners, teas, receptions, showers, etc.

Now-a clean little dress every day

SHE doesn't quite know how to keep her little school dress fresh all day. Little feet have a way of straying into muddy places. Little hands don't quite know how to manage grown-up knives and forks.

But let her wear the clean little dress. Just soaking in cleansing Rinso suds will loosen the dirt from yesterday's crumpled frock. Only the very dirtiest places will need to be rubbed at all.

Rinso is a new kind of soap for the family wash—so pure, so rich in cleansing ingredients that it does what soap has never done before. It soaks clothes clean without hard rubbing—yet so gently that not a thread is weakened.

Rinso does the family wash as wonderfully as Lux does fine things. Sold everywhere. It comes in the regular size and the big new package. Get Rinso to-day—at grocery and department stores. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

NOTE—In hard water it takes from ¾ to 1 package of Rinso to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1½ to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

Hayward Anderson, Mary Pusateri and Catherine Hendrickson graduated Tuesday from Ohio State University, members of the largest class ever turned out at that institution of learning. There were 1157 members of the 1922 class, and none of the campus buildings were large enough to accomodate the crowds which gathered at Columbus for the commencement. The exercises were held in the colliseum which was packed. Congressman Theodore E. Burton delivered the commencement address.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

They landed right beside Lily Pond and there was old Grandaddy Firefly Sulking.

DOWN to th earth slid Nancy and Nick to hunt Mr. Peerabout, the lost Man-in-the Moon.

They landed right beside Lily Pond, and there was old Grandaddy Firefly sulking.

"What's the matter, Grandaddy?" asked Nancy. "Is anybody sick?"

"No," said Grandaddy, "unless it's I. I'm sick of everything."

"Why, what's wrong?" asked Nancy kindly. "I should think you'd be happy on such a lovely night. It's just like Fairyland here. Everything smells so sweet and perfumy. And the crickets and tree-frogs are singing and it's so quiet and comfy and everything."

Grandaddy buzzed his wings and flew around the grass stalk he'd been sitting on.

"I'll tell you all about it," he said. "You know how it is in this world. Folks like to get credit for what they do and they don't like other people to interfere with their rights. Don't you agree with me?"

Nick said he did, though he wasn't quite sure just what Grandaddy meant.

"It's the Moon," explained Grandaddy sulkily. "I hate it. When it shines, as it's doing tonight, nobody can see my light. I wish the Moon and everything on it were in Guinea, wherever that is."

"Oh!" cried Nancy. "Then you won't wish to help us, Grandaddy. You see we are after Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon. He's lost."

"You don't say so," exclaimed Grandaddy in surprise, lighting on Nancy's shoulder, the better to hear. "Where do you s'pose he's gone?"

"We don't know," said Nancy. "Comet-Legs, his enemy, shoved him off the Moon and says he's going to turn the Moon square."

"Well, I'll help you, anyway," offered Grandaddy. "We surely don't want a square Moon and we don't want a new Moon-Man. The old Moon was good enough."

"Then you didn't mean what you said about wishing it was in Guinea did you?" said Nancy quickly.

"No!" declared Grandaddy. "I guess I didn't. Things might be worse."

DUSTIN FARNUM in STRANGE IDOLS

Dustin Farnum, the Popular Fox Star, Comes to the Eastland Theatre for Three Days, Starting Tomorrow, in His Latest Picture, "Strange Idols," a Story of the Northwest—Also Century Comedy With Lee Moran.

Announcement is made by the Eastland Theatre that the popular Dustin Farnum, now a Fox star, is to open at that house tomorrow, in his latest photo-play, "Strange Idols." The play, written by Jules Furthman, concerns the romance of a wealthy lumberman of the Northwest and a famous dancer in a Broadway cabaret. It is the story of an unfortunate love match, with its heartburnings and ultimate reunion. The scenic effects include the white light activities of New York and the shadowed depths of the primitive forest in the Northwest.

Doris Pawn, a very winsome actress, is Farnum's leading woman in this picture, which was directed by Bernard Durning. Dustin Farnum's great popularity should insure him a hearty welcome at the Eastland Theatre.

Mother In County Jail, Father Dead, Six Children Surrendered To Children's Home

With their father dead and their mother, Mrs. Lou Myrtle Fulk in the county jail serving a sentence for violating the prohibition laws and unable to care for her six children, she surrendered them to the Scioto County Children's Home near Wheelersburg, Thursday.

Their ages range from 2 to 14 years and they have had no one to care for them except neighbors at Effort, where the family resided since Mrs. Fulk has been a prisoner in the county jail for having moonshine in her possession. She was fined $500.

When these children were placed in the care of Supt. G. W. Howes of the Children's Home they boosted the number there to 76, and every child is from Scioto county.

Have You Piles?

There You Have Something To Learn.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with out-side applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Wurster Bros. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails. — Advertisement.

To Represent Local Diocese

The Rev'd E. Ainger Powell, Rector of All Saints' Church, left the city this afternoon for Providence, R. I., where he will represent the Diocese of Southern Ohio at the National Conference of Social Work, June 10th to 22nd.

Twenty-four Years Ago

David T. Day, 27, and Elvira Adams, 25, both of Mt. Joy, secured a license to wed, and John Nunley obtained a license to marry Rosa Massie of Rushtown.

John A. Durall died at the home of Mrs. Lust, 1112 Gay street. He was 35 years old and had been sick for a long time.

James Edwin Hadley, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office, died at his home on West Fourth street. He was fifty-four years old and had been a citizen of this city for many years.

Professors Moothart and Clark, of the Normal University, leased Athletic park, in order to give Portsmouth base ball. It was announced that one game a week would be played—on Saturday—with opponents, principally college teams. The first game was scheduled for July 4 with the Delaware team and the players in the local lineup were: Daily and Art Bannon, pitchers; Walden, catcher; Appel, shortstop; Clark, first base; Finney, second base; James Bannon, Jr., third base; Pyle, left field; Warren, center field, and Rickey, right field. The uniforms were white trimmed in black.

The ghost of George Englert, who took his own life, was reported at the "Lodge" saloon. James Powell, better known as "Buck," a gentleman of color, employed at the saloon as porter, knew of the suicide and heard of the stories of the appearance of Englert's spirit in the cellar with feelings of dread and fear. He was sent to the cellar to repair the beer pumps. No sooner had he arrived below than before him appeared, with out-stretched arms, deep, sunken eyes and fleshless skull and face, the form of George Englert.

Powell's breath almost ceased; his hair stood on end; he yelled good, loud yells, wheeled about, and with reindeer speed fled from the place. He's going yet—at least he hasn't been seen since. An investigation disclosed that some one had put a sheet over a post, shaped it like a person, attached outstretched arms and painted devilish, hideous eyes.

The New York World contained a cut of Gould Murfin, Portsmouth boy, who was one of the brave crew of the battleship Iowa.

To Meet June 21

The meeting of the finance committee of the City Council scheduled for last evening at the office of the City Auditor, for the purpose of passing on semi-annual budgets of the various departments of the city, was deferred until one o'clock, June 21. The absence of City Solicitor Johnson, who is attending a Shriner's meeting at San Francisco, made necessary a change of date. Mr. Johnson is expected home in the next few days.

Fingers Mashed

Harold, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schillinger, 813 Prospect street had his left hand caught in a folding couch yesterday morning while his mother was closing it. Two fingers were so badly mashed and mangled that it was thought at first that it would be necessary to amputate them, but later examination showed that this would not be necessary. Dr. C. G. Braunlin attended the boy.

STEWART'S CUT RATE

An Remarkable Offer To Any Person In Portsmouth Who Is Weak, Sick, Nervous Or Run-Down

It Is Your Position for You to Come to This Store, Buy a Regular $1.10 Package of Nuxated Iron for 89 Cents, Use It for Two Weeks and If at the End of That Time You Have Not Received All, And Even Greater Benefits Than You Expect, Simply Bring the Wrapper Back to Stewarts Cut Rate and We Will Cheerfully Hand You Back Your Money

Portsmouth people may well ask how we can afford to make this remarkable offer. Medical examinations by physicians all over the country show an amazing number of people lack 100 per cent iron in the blood. At a recent conference, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, former physician at Bellevue Hospital (Out Door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said, "Without iron, the blood becomes weak, thin, pale and watery. In many people this so seriously weakens their vital organs as to lead them to believe that they have heart or stomach trouble, kidney disease, nerve force exhaustion or some other serious ailment. I have had people come to me thinking they had heart trouble, because they often had pains and palpitation of the heart, sudden dizziness, faintness or spots before the eyes. In a great many of these cases, the moment iron was supplied, all of these symptoms disappear." We make this offer because Genuine Nuxated Iron contains true organic iron like the iron in your blood. So many people are deficient in iron who would surely be benefited by this remarkable remedy, that we recommend that you come right to Stewarts Cut Rate and get your bottle of Nuxated Iron. Use it for two weeks, and note the improvement in your own case in strength, energy and endurance. If you are not more than surprised at the results, just bring back the wrapper and we will promptly refund your money without question.—Advertisement.

On Wings of Wireless

A fashionable Radio Dance is held up by two men and a girl. Guy Garrick and Dick Defoe are trying to unravel the mystery. They find Ruth Walden, beautiful and wealthy, is in some way mixed in with the crooks. The "Sea Vamp" a house boat, and "The Bacchante" a suspicious craft, are discovered. They seek to check up on them and discover the "Inner Circle." This is a fashionable resort, that thrives on the revolt against reform. Boats and Inner Circle are equipped with the latest in wireless.

Dick and Garrick discover that a meeting is to take place in the Pink Room of the Inner Circle. They get Dick's wireless dictagraph and prepare to listen in. Dick is left to listen while Garrick goes out to shadow some of Jack Curtis' pals. Garrick is followed and at the door of the Gerard town house has a desperate encounter with two ruffians.

Dick's wireless dictagraph was working good until some amateur interfered and then when he could no longer hear the conversation in the Pink Room he threw down the receiver and went to find Garrick, coming upon him just in time to prevent the second man from going in, but then two more came, then a whistle and four fled leaving Garrick and Defoe to be arrested by the revenue officers. Garrick quickly showed them who he was. They found a key and searched the Gerard house but found nothing.

Ruth has been located and taken home after an escapade in which her car was wrecked. But she had not been with her mother at the club one day before she is away again with Jack Curtis, one of the Velvet Gang. They were about to take a drink of what Prof. Vario called a "love potion" when he came in and Jack began accusing the waiter of trying to drug them.

Vira Gerard partially confesses. Dick and Guy meet Glenn who also half-way agrees to tell all, and does say that he once gave a key to his garage to Rae Larue. They visit Glenn's garage and find part of the stolen liquor there but none of the jewels. Also a wireless is found and a message comes over it that Ruth has eloped with John Curtis.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

BROADCASTING

"My Ruth— carried off—on the 'Sea Vamp!'"

Nita Walden repeatde her words hysterically over the telephone. Garrick knew that there was no use now to camouflage his fears.

"I'll be out there—with you—in a few minutes," he shouted.

Dick was still in a daze at the unexpectedness of the blow. Mechanically he followed Garrick and climbed into the car. As it started and turned down the road to Nonowantuc, the cool of the damp evening air seemed to collect his faculties. He noticed for the first time where they were headed.

"Why this way, Guy? Why not to New York?"

"I want to see Nita Walden first, and reassure her, I promised her."

"But—it's Ruth first."

"Well, the Club isn't far."

"Yes—but the city—the police—"

"Wait, Dick. I know what I am doing."

Nita Walden was overwhelmed by her daughter's peril. Ruth's other escapades were nothing compared to this. Up and down the room she paced, choking back her sobs, waiting for Garrick's arrival. Some moments she would stand before Ruth's picture wondering what was happening to her. Other moments she would try to calm herself and relax in an easy chair in a vain effort to concentrate on Ruth as if that might bring her back.

She was frantic when Garrick arrived.

"If it's ransom they want ..... I'll pay a million!"

"Pay a million? Pay nothing. Yes ..... a million to catch them and save her ..... but not a cent of ransom."

The room telephone rang. Dick answered it.

"It's Glenn downstairs, with Dr. Darling of Stony Brook." Dick said no more but Garrick understood and excused himself.

At the desk stood the doctor alone. "I've got him out in my car. I thought he'd better see you first or he did, rather."

"What's the matter?"

The doctor did not answer but led the way outside and a few feet down the driveway.

There was Glenn, wrapped in a heavy robe, his head bandaged, still very shaky.

"Garrick," he cried, "Did you hear yet? Someone's carried off Ruth and Vira in the 'Sea Vamp.' When the doctor got hold of me he patched me up; I told him; he was for singing up the sheriff, but I made him wait until I could see you."

In the rapid fire of questions it appeared that Ruth had been getting more and more anxious to do something. Vira had confessed to her that she had seen Garrick and when Glenn arrived he told of his meeting on Main Street and Garrick's message.

They had agreed that the first thing to be done was to fix it so that the "Sea Vamp" could not be moved away and Ruth had insisted that she be driven over there that evening so she could disable the engines and make it impossible. They had agreed.

"But why?" asked Dick.

"Why? Don't you get it? The 'Sea Vamp' was really the floating storehouse for a lot of wet goods we were dealing in for Georges and the rest. That was Brock's real job."

"I see," encouraged Garrick. "And Ruth thought they might move the boat away. So she started to prevent that — and left me the note about it."

"Yes," nodded Glenn, adjusting the bandage more comfortably. "Well, when we got over there it was dark. There wasn't even the light on the boat. Ruth figured that Brock and everybody were away and it was a good time to do what she wanted. We got the canoe and paddled out. There wasn't a sound. We climbed aboard and went down to the little engine room. It was beastly dark. I was fumbling about for the switch —the next thing I knew I heard a scream from Vira— then something or somebody must have hit me," he put his hand up carefully but did not touch the bandage back of his ear, "and that's the last thing I knew until I came to in the water, half full of the harbor. Must have knocked me cold and overboard. I managed to get to the other shore and some people in a bungalow got the Doc."

"Who was it?" asked Dick. "More than one?"

"I don't know. But I think so. I had a vague feeling there were a couple at least back of me."

Dick stared at Garrick. Vira gone, too! Georges, Brock, Jack Curtis, Rae. He uttered the names, suspiciously. Was it in reality a final adventure in the double triangle of Ruth, himself and Jack, Vira, Rae and Glenn?

"So," Dick mumbled sarcastically with a side glance at Garrick, "Ruth knew very well what she was doing, eh?"

Garrick was too big to take offense. "Dick," he replied merely, Ruth confided in me, that morning at the Ucania. She's really clever. You know it as well as I do. But they had her — they had them all, meshed, hooked. Why, Dick, all the time she has meant just to lead them on—and hand them over, when she got them right. But she couldn't tell Glenn, here, that. Nor Vira. Not yet." He glanced up at his own car. "If she had only stuck to her promise—to let me know—first! But Ruth is so clever; she thinks she's a match for anyone. And mostly she is! Wait! She'll prove it."

It was cold comfort to Dick. "Well, now, what good is it to be here? If we had only gone to the city, we could have alarmed the police there."

Garrick smiled patiently. "You forget the Radio Central at Rock Ledge —and the telephone. I can do all that here. I can call up and get the police of the country here by telephone. Besides, from Rock Ledge I can alarm the police of the world. Every ship, every amateur station on any wave length—the wireless world is open to me here!"

"That's it," cried Glenn. "Let me go with you."

"No. Doctor, put him up where he can get over this quick. I'll need you, boy, tomorrow, need you badly. Get in shape."

Glenn obeyed with, for him, good grace and in a moment, with the full story, Garrick and Dick were speeding to Rock Ledge. "Broadcasting by the police—for stolen cars—missing people—all sorts of crimes—is getting to be a greater success every day," cried Garrick, trying to pump enthusiasm into the crushed Dick and with success.

"Guy, I'm a dub. In my own line, too. Never thought of the Rock Ledge broadcasting station. Of course, XYXZ can do it!"

There were no formalities necessary at the Radio Central for a combination like Garrick and Dick, who was a constant frequenter of the place.

They soon found themselves in a small room, quite plain except for the draperies that were artistically arranged to hide the bare walls. There were a few plants and flowers about, also. At one end stood a beautiful piona of the reproducing variety. Some of the best known artists had in reality played on it; all had played on it through the perforated paper rolls. There were phonograph of all the standard well-known makes and on the other side an automatic organ.

GEORGES SHUT UP LIKE A CLAM.

A small table with a silk-shaded lamp added a touch of hominess and there were a few, not many, deep easy chairs.

But the most important piece of furniture which interested Garrick more than anything else, as the attendant conducted them in, was the cabinet containing little lamps and plenty of switches and wiring, comprising what is known as the modulating equipment. It was a wooden framework covered with copper screening to prevent the delicate apparatus from being disturbed by electrical and magnetic influences within the room itself. Various conductors connecting up the cabinet and the transmitter were sheathed in beautiful, bright and neat woven copper sleeves or tubes for the same reason.

"There's the little transmitter, mounted on that portable stand," pointed out Dick. "The radiophone transmitter, proper, is located in a little room under the roof overhead. There are a couple of operators, for it contains all the elements of actual transmission. When this studio is to broadcast it is connected by this switch over here with the radio station upstairs. Here's a wire telephone to it, too."

Garrick hardly needed to be told. He had seen it once before, the radio telephone transmitter which consisted of a cabinet closed in by iron grill work to prevent damage to the delicate vacuum tubes, five of them for the normal operation. At the extreme end of a long operating desk or table was the transmitter. On the table were ordinary telephone instruments, radio apparatus, a receiving set with amplifiers, telephone head sets and a loud speaking device by which the operators could hear the speech or music rendered downstairs, only here actuated by the long distance receiving set.

"Now, here's the phonetron — the dish basin some people call it," pointed out the attendant, who had been looking at his watch and a schedule to determine when would be the best time to broadcast the alarm Garrick had impressed on his mind.

Garrick looked curiously at the little hole in a cylinder dangling from an adjustable stand in front of him.

"Is it about the right height? You prefer to stand? All right. How's that? Now, don't forget— talk directly into that little hole—good and loud. Keep up your voice. About three inches away from the transmitter. There. Now, wait until I tell you."

The minutes seemed eternity to Dick. Would it never be possible for Garrick to soar on wings of wireless to the succor of Ruth and Vira?

"All set?" The attendant called. "Let's go!"

"Ruth Walden and Vira Gerard of Nonowantuc, Long Island, were kidnaped in a house boat, the 'Sea Vamp' from Duck Harbor, Long Island, tonight, about nine o'clock."

The attendant nodded to Garrick that in his opinion he was no novice in handling the affair.

Slowly and distinctly Garrick launched into a brief description of the house boat and followed with a detailed description of Ruth and Vira and his own suspicion that the 'Sea Vamp' was now somewhere in the Sound, probably on it way east.

Garrick finished. There was a silence. He looked about stupidly. Not that he could have expected anything else than silence. Yet it was weird, uncanny. He had spoken to a mute and invisible audience. Was it one, a hundred, a thousand, a hundred thousand? No one could do other than guess.

"Always the radio is a temperamental thing, that is, if you can say inanimate things are temperamental; there's a natural depravity about it. But I think conditions are fine, just now."

Garrick turned. It was Professor Vario who had just heard he was there and had hurried into the building at the news. "It has worked best when nobody was around to appreciate it and not so good when it's on parade. The radiophone with its delicate tubes and controls sometimes lies down on the job at the wrong mommt. But we don't have much of that trouble here."

Hasty inquiries and a promise to put the whole of the Rock Ledge equipment at their disposal followed.

"Now, Dick," exclaimed Garrick energetically, outside. "I've got that first call off. Now you can have your way. To the city!"

As they whirled down the splendid road Garrick could not get out of his mind the similar impression he had between broadcasting and a picture studio. "I suppose in one case it's one-sided pantomime, in the other one-sided dialogue. Anyhow, the same motto applies to both, 'Get it across!' It's a new art, not much more than a year old, is it, Dick? An old story to you, but full of interest to me as a detective. Broadcasting as a business will settle down. I suppose. This Radio Central service is really a public service. Just now it's like the talking machine companies selling you an instrument and giving away the records!"

A surprise awaited them as they drew up at Glenn's garage guarded by the Astra agency men.

"Glad you came, sir," exclaimed the agency manager himself. "I've got three men here, now."

"Three men?" queried Garrick. "Why is that?"

The manager, for answer, took him inside and closed the door. In the corner was a well-dressed, expensively dressed man with a Greek cast of countenance, handcuffed.

"This man—his name, he says, is Achilleo—came in here early tonight and claimed this stuff, said he had a bill of sale or something for it, and wanted to arrange for a truck to take it out."

"I know," cautioned Garrick, looking at the handcuffs on the restless prisoner. "But isn't this a bit high-handed?"

The Astra manager smiled knowingly. "With contraband, sir, like this—stolen goods? He's an accessory after the fact —maybe —at least a receiver of stolen goods."

The prisoner seemed to regard Garrick as a savior. He showed signs of loosening up on his surly reticence.

"You see, sir, I buy the Inner Circle —understand?—for fifty thousand dollar, understand? If I get all the goods, understand?" He turned aside and opened his coat for Garrick alone. In his inside pocket was a long envelope with fifty one-thousand dollar bills. "I make payment when I get all stuff, here, too, understand?"

Garrick did understand. It was a matter of making a quick sell-out and getaway. "Where's your bill of sale or whatever it is you have for this?"

Achilleo pulled out a paper. It was signed by Georges and Rae Larue as agent in fact. "Let the buyer beware!" laughed Garrick as he returned it. "Now, I understand that the money is to pass tonight at the Inner Circle when this is signed?" The man nodded and grinned with perfect ivories. "Then, if you want to get free in this little illegal transaction, Mr. Achilleo, and have that fifty thousand yourself instead of leaving it in court as cash bail, take me to the Inner Circle and get the goods!"

The thought of the hard-earned cash settled Achilleo. "The man and the girl are now there," he reported as he left the telephone, with handcuffs slipped.

Garrick's raid of the Inner Circle was a noiseless, if not painless affair. But it was only fifty per cent successful. The net closed on Georges; Rae Larue was nowhere about.

Georges shut up like a clam. It was more than evident, however, that he was not the "man-at-the-top."

Thoroughly they searched, but there was not a trace of Rae. Nor was there a trace of Ruth or the others.

"So—the cellar is on the roof," laughed Garrick, as they uncovered the little concrete room they had seen when they installed the dictagraph aerial. "Here's a small fortune, alone, in these cases. When I poked my head out through the scuttle, Dick, I also saw your aerial all snarled up and tangled, wrecked."

Dick did not appear to be interested. "Maybe they had a secret exit over the roofs in case of a raid. Anyway, Rae got away. Someone's out fifty thousand in the clean-up."

"This eliminates Georges," considered Garrick, "except, of course, as an understrapper."

"Brock —Curtis," repeated Dick mechanically, setting his teeth as the names suggested Vira and Ruth.

Garrick shook his head absently. "All the wild horses in Hades wouldn't get a word out of Georges now," he observed. "Thank the Lord, Dick, you're an expert at it; our only hope lies in wireless—in some form or other!"

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—advertisement.

FUNDAMENTALISTS AND MODERNISTS LINING UP AT BAPTIST MEET

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Marshaling of forces by the fundamentalist faction of the Northern Baptists now in session here to gain control of the 15th annual convention was seen today by the modernists, who are rallying their supporters to keep control of the convention within their ranks.

The fundamentalists have organized a steering committee which will have charge of all resolutions, nominations and other business presented by their faction.

Modernists also have organized a committee to handle work presented by their delegates. Members of this committee are Dr. C. Wolfgand, of New York; Dr. O. W. Petty, of Pittsburg, Pa., Dr. C. N. Arbuckle, of Newton, Mass.; Layman William McChercher, of Sioux City, Iowa, and Charles W. Gilkey, of Chicago. The fundamentalists declined to make public the names of their committeemen.

The first fundamentalist victories came yesterday when the nominations of convention committeemen were ordered printed and laid open to discussion on the floor of the convention. Dr. J. C. Massee, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a fundamentalist leader, succeeded in having a resolution to this effect passed by the convention. The day for the election of officers also was changed on the motion of Dr. Massee. It was originally planned to hold the election Monday, but this was changed to Friday or Saturday, the fundamentalists voting solidly for the change.

According to Dr. Wolfgand, the modernists would not oppose a statement concerning the history of the Baptist church, while the fundamentalists believe that the convention should go on record as favoring a creed or statement of faith for all Baptists.

Says Parents Should Attend Sunday School

CANTON, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Bible classes are not living up to their name and their duty when they neglect the spiritual work, declared Mrs. Georgia Lee Young, of Toledo, vice president of the adult Bible classes of the Ohio Sunday School Association, in speaking before members of the State Sunday School Convention Institute now in session here.

"We, members of the Bible classes, are responsible for the many empty pews in the churches and the small number of boys and girls in the audience," Mrs. Young said. "We should demand that all the mothers should attend Sunday school. When the mothers and fathers stay home from Sunday school, we can not expect the children to take an interest."

Fred D. Cartwright, of Albany, N. Y., young people's division superintendent of the New York State Sunday School Association, today told the delegates that in his opinion, proper supervised social affairs for the young people of the country, promoted the churches, would be a big step toward the elimination of the spread of the present evil in social circles.

The afternoon sessions of the convention are being devoted to conferences of the leaders of the various divisions of the Sunday school.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 15—Renewed covering of short contracts was prompted at the opening of today's stock market by the expected reduction of the Bank of England discount rate. Studebaker was again the most conspicuous feature, 3,000 shares changing hands, at an extreme advance of one point. Mexican Petroleum, Coca-Cola, Mack Trucks and several of the junior rails, including New York, Chicago, and St. Louis and Peoria and Eastern also strengthened. Mercantile Marie preferred was the only weak issue, making a further decline of 1¼ points on the unfavorable outlook for the shipping trade.

Oils and some of the tractions and utilities, including Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Manhattan Elevated, Third Avenue and Pacific Gas and Electric retained the better part of their early gains. Inactive specialties such as American Writing Paper pfd. American Agricultural Chemical and General Cigar also strengthened. Selling of shippings continued, however, later extending to equipments, motor specialties and miscellaneous shares. Mercantile Marine pfd lost almost three points and the common 1¾ points. Rails held firm on moderate trading, St. Louis and San Francisco pfd, Atchison and Rutland pfd gaining 1 to 1½ points. Before noon the market became unsettled on heavy selling of Mexican Petroleum and Studebaker. Call money opened at 3½ per cent.

Recurrence of last week's selling unsettled today's stock market. Several losses were sustained by shippings, oils, motors, equipments and independent steel. Sales approximated 1,450,000 shares.

The closing was heavy.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 15—Forecasts of cooler weather in the southwest turned wheat prices downward today after a brief display of strength at the opening. Initial gains were due to continued unfavorable crop conditions for winter wheat, but prospects for cooler temperatures acted quickly as more than an offset. Good rains in the spring crop belt counted also as a bearish factor. The opening which ranged from ¼c to ⅝c higher, with July 1.12½ to 1.12¾ and September 1.13⅜ to 1.13⅝ was followed by slight further gains and then by a setback all around to well below yesterday's finish.

The close was unsettled 1¼c to 2⅝c net lower, with July 1.09⅝ to 1.09¾ and September 11.11 to 1.11⅛.

Corn followed the changes in wheat and after opening, ⅝c off to ⅛c advance. July 62⅛ to 62⅝, underwent a general sag. Unfavorable crop reports gave strength to the oats market, which opened ⅛c@¼c to ⅝c higher, July 35¼ to 35⅝, and later scored slight additional gains before beginning to react.

Provisions were firmer in line with the hog market.

The close was nervous ⅝c to 1½c net lower with July 61⅝.

New Brick Company To Operate Ironton Plant

Announcement of the incorporation of the Ohio Refractories Company with a capital stock of $100,000 by local men means the reopening of a brick plant business in Ironton that has been closed for sometime.

The Ohio Refractories company was incorporated by M. K. Hitchcock, Henry W. Heer, James A. Hager, Ben Dillon, George D. Selby, Roger A. Selby and Norman Adams of Wheelersburg. The incorporation papers were filed in Columbus today.

The local men have purchased the old Hayward brick plant in Ironton from the Basic Products company of Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh firm bought the plant with the intention of making kiln products, other than brick but found later that the plant could not be adapted to their needs and plans so kept it closed.

Firebrick only will be manufactured by the new company with M. K. Hitchcock as manage rof the plant. He is now devoting much of his time to the work of getting things in shape for the opening of the plant probably next week. The plant will have a capacity of 30,000 brick daily.

Fireclay will be obtained from mines in Vernon township this county and from mines in Lawrence county.

The stockholders will meet soon to elect directors and officers.

Ammonia Pipe Bursts; Patrons Suffer Gas Attack

Patrons of the noon hour lunch at The Classic, Fifth and Chillicothe, were hurriedly ejected by a "gas attack" coming from the kitchen in the rear, and were forced temporarily to leave their lunches behind and flee.

The main ammonia pipe in the refrigeration plant burst due to high pressure, pouring two tons of the liquir upon the floor. When the strong odor reached the refreshment porlor the walters became frightened and ran to the Seventh Street Fire House. The company responded with the hook and ladder, and the firemen donned their gas masks, invaded the kitchen. The pipe was in a difficult position to work with and it required a half hour to stop the flow. The odor coming from the front entrance was so strong that people passing were required to walk on the edge of the sidewalk. Two canaries, forgotten in the rush, were rescued and revived. The gas caused a great many tears to be shed even among the men.

Remove Ink From Old Papers

MADISON WIS. June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A process to remove ink from old newspapers so the paper can be used again for printing purposes has been developed by the United States Forestry Products laboratory according to an announcement today. One mill under commercial conditions has de-inked 1500 tons of old newspapers and the paper was remade into newsprint stock of desired strength and color and accepted by publishers as standard the announcement said.

The success of this experiment solves a paper salvage problem that was first considered by Danish paper makers in 1695 according to the statement.

entonite a clay-like substance from volcanic ash and found largely in Wyoming is used in the de-inking process. It dissolves the ink and leaves the paper perfectly clear.

Because of the cheapness of the new process laboratory officials said they believed that much of the 2250000 tons of newsprint annually used can now be salvaged.

Disbarment Charges Filed Against Attorney Hawk

CINCINNATI, O., June 15.—(By the Associated Press) — Formal charges in disbarment were filed today against George S. Hawke, attorney, and well known as a "dry" leader, by a special committee appointed some time ago by Judge Thomas H. Darby in common pleas court.

The charges contain two counts. One accuses him of unprofessional conduct in the securing of licenses for the operation of a pool room by aliens under the name of the "Lincoln Pool Room Company," of which he was secretary. The other count recites that he was "convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude on March 9, 1922, in municipal court of Cincinnati," in connection with the securing of the licenses. Under the law Hawke will be given time to file an answer to the charges. The presiding judge will then name three judges of the common pleas court to try Hawke on the charges.

Disbarment Of Woman Attorney Sought

COLUMBUS, O., June 15—(By the Associated Press)—Proceedings looking to the disbarment of H. Anna Quinby, one of the few women attorneys of the Franklin county bar, were taken today by the appointment of a committee "to investigate, prepare and file" such proceedings by the six common pleas judges. This is believed to be the first disbarment proceeding ever brought against a woman in the Ohio courts. She is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state representative.

The entry of the judges declared that Miss Quinby "has probably been guilty of misconduct in office" and "unprofessional conduct" in the trial of Lambert Britz, the last of the Columbus bank robbers to be tried. Miss Quinby defended Britz.

Although no specifications are set forth it generally is understood that the proposed disbarment arises from a charge made by Mrs. Alta Weinhart, of Cincinnati, that Miss Quinby had visited her in Cincinnati before the trial of Britz, an attempted to "shoo" her out of the state.

Mrs. Weinhart is a sister of Harry Lutz, one of the bandit trio, who pleaded guilty and implicated Britz and others, and also is a sister-in-law of Britz. She was a state witness at the trial.

Built Railroads By Advice Of Spirits

NEW YORK, June 15.—(By—the Associated Press) — That every mile of the 3,000 miles of railroad he has built has been constructed by following the advice of spirits and that he changed the direction of the Kansas City Southern and built his terminal at Port Arthur, Texas, rather than Galveston, which the spirits warned him to avoid because of disaster there, is the assertion of Arthur E. Stillwell, who says he has been president of many railroads and was president for seven years of the National Surety Company. Making his revelation last night at a meeting of spiritualists he said he had not revealed his relations with the spirit world because he did not want "people to think he was a nut."

"I have built more than 3,000 miles of railroad," he said, "and every part of the route was determined by spirits who came to me in my dreams and told me what to do.

"When I was building the Kansas City Southern I was warned not to build the terminal at Galveston by spirits because it would lead to disaster. They told me to terminate it at Lake Sabine where I built the terminal of Port Arthur. Four days after the terminal was completed the tidal wave wiped out Galveston."

Games This Week

Thursday, June 15—Vulcan Last vs Excelsior.

Friday June 16—Central Labor vs Excelsior.

The nifty work on the hill of Frebis was too much for the N. and W. outfit to cope with at the North End lot Wednesday evening and as a result the railroaders were blanked by southpaw pitching twice within a week. "Doc" Baughman turning the trick on the other occasion. While the Central Labor lads were registering five large and ornamental tallies, all unearned, by reason of extremely loose work in the field behind good pitching of "Dr." Ira Hunter, the Wells gang were floundering around at bat like so many school boys. The Brown county product literally southpawed the choo-choo boys to death, allowing them but two singles during the entire battle and ten of the athletes from East Portsmouth fell victim to his skill on strikes. The Ripley sidewheeler stopped the Wells brigade dead in their tracks and stood them on their heads, and only five of the enemy reached first base and his work was superfine, his only mistakes being a couple of free passes which were not costly.

Hunter pitched well for five innings when he was removed to allow Houston to bat and the latter finished it out on the hill. The tall southpaw contributed to his own defeat by wallowing around on easy bunts about the box in the second and again in the fifth when three markers trickled over. Jones at first was the chief offender as his two boots were costly, his failure to handle Smith's intended sacrifice being responsible for the two first runs and his wild throw cost another tally.

FIRST INNING

Conwell was safe on Frebis' error. Jones sacrificed. Wells rolled to second. Shoemaker was tossed out by Elliott. No runs, no hits, one error.

Schweinsberg grounded to Sowards. Stilwell did exactly the same thing. Lewis doubled past third. Elliott tossed to Cooper in middle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING

Sowards fanned. Fannin also fanned. Hicks ditto. In this inning Frebis possibly established a record never before made in this part of the country, in that he pitched nine straight strikes. The three batters who fanned struck three times each. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Dunham singled to middle. Jones fumbled Smith's sacrifice. Jones dropped Hicks assist on Monk's sacrifice and then chucked ball to the plate, Dunham scoring. Grimm flied to Hunter. Frebis squeezed Smith home on his bunt, but was tossed out by Hicks, Jones then got Monk at third. Two runs, one hit, two errors.

THIRD INNING

Cooper fanned. Hunter walked. Conwell fanned. Jones flied high to Grimm in middle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Schweinsberg flied to Shoemaker. Stilwell grounded to Sowards at short. Lewis got his second hit, a single to left. Elliott grounded to the box. No runs, one hit, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Wells rolled to Frebis. Shoemaker fanned. Sowards was chucked out by Monk. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Dunham was safe on Hunter's error. Smith sacrificed for the second time. Monk's roller was tossed to third ahead of Dunham. Grimm fanned. No runs, no hits, one error.

FIFTH INNING

Fannin fanned for the second time. Hicks also cut three swats in the ozone, his second exhibition of club swinging. Cooper grounded to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Frebis singled to short. Schweinsberg's sacrifice was booted by Hunter, the batter being safe. Stilwell doubled to center, scoring Frebis and Schweinsberg. Lewis fanned. Elliott rolled to the box. Stilwell scored when Fannin tossed wide to third. Dunham rolled to second. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

SIXTH INNING

Houston batted for Hunter and got the Railroaders first hit when he singled through second. Conwell hit into a double play, Elliott, Monk to Dunham. Jones whiffed. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Smith fanned. Monk got a second when Shoemaker dropped his high foul. The plumber then walked and stole. Grimm rolled to first. Frebis fanned. No runs, no hits, one error.

SEVENTH INNING

Wells lined to Grimm in center. Shoemaker beat out a roller to short Sowards walked. Fannin flied to Elliott at second. Hicks fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yesterday nearly 700 people viewed Jackson in his training antics.

Donohue To Try Out His Soupbone

The salary wing of Pete Donohue, the pitching ace of the Reds, is slowly rounding into shape and the crack hurler is expected to take his regular turn on the slab within a few days, is the encouraging news sent out of the east where the Moran tribe is now performing. Donohue has been out for a couple of weeks with a bad arm and his disability has proved a sad blow to the hopes of the Cincinnati gang on their present invasion of the eastern circuit.

Thorpe's Big Day

NEW YORK, June 15—Jim Thorpe has dropped another notch down the scale in his checkered baseball career, but the famous Indian athlete still retains the spectacular ability that won him world honors as an all-round athlete.

Yesterday, in his debut with the Hartford, Conn., club of the Eastern club, the versatile redskin was the individual star of a 12-inning game, which his team won 4 to 3 from Springfield, Mass. He clouted out five hits, including a double, in six times at bat, scored a run, registered a stolen base and started a double play after a brilliant outfield catch as his share in the victory.

EH, JESS, THIS IS REAL HUMOR

LOS ANGELES, June 15—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion pugilist, in a statement published today by the Express, accused Jack Dempsey, present champion, of "dodging" through his manager, Jack Kearns, a return match with Willard. Local sports followers consider Willard's statement an open challenge to Dempsey.

And The Indians Are Going Right Ahead

CLEVELAND, June 15—J. Riggs Stephenson, Cleveland Indians fielder, is out of the game today because of an injury for the first time in his athletic career. A fast ball by Rip Collins, Boston pitcher, struck him on the thumb of his right hand and five stitches were necessary to sew up the wound. It is not thought the bone was fractured.

Stephenson is the sixth Indian on the hospital list. Louis Guisto, first baseman, has a broken foot; Pitcher Sothoron is suffering a sore back and foot; Pitcher Guy Morton has bronchitis and Manager Speaker and Pitcher Mails, although convalescing from illness, are too weak to get into the game.

Heelers	0	4	000

The Heelers were pushed farther down into the cellar position last night when they met the Turners for the first time this season. It was a good game with the exception of one frame when the Turners sent in five runs the result of a couple of resounding hits and a couple of errors. The Heelers staged a rally in the sixth when they sent in 3 tallies but they could not keep it up although they made an attempt to repeat the rally in the last frame the Turners held them down without a run.

The slab work of Ebmeier and all around fielding of his teammates featured the game. Only one misplay was chalked up against the victors.

Tonight instead of Friday night the Arch Preservers meet the Pattern Makers. Both teams have won 3 and lost none which means a real battle. Play begins at 5:15 sharp.

Winners In The Sun-Times Baseball Contest

First Prize, $5—William Funk, 405 Offnere street, city.
Second Prize, $3—Lunata Harr Semones, 404 Ohio avenue, New Boston.
Third Prize, $1—Ethel R. Dwyer 616 Fourth street, city.

A large number of replies were received by the Baseball Contest Editor of the Sun-Times in the baseball contest initiated in last Sunday's paper. After going over the letters carefully the Contest Editor finally, late last evening, sifted the list down to the above three who are announced as winners and they can secure their award any afternoon this week between the hours of four and five o'clock.

Following is a list of correct answers on which the prizes were awarded:

A pitcher never wears a chest protector.

Shortsops do not wear shin guards.

No base runner ever catches a ball.

Alexander is not a left-handed pitcher.

Masks are not proper on batsmen.

The umpire is giving the wrong signal. He is shouting "strike" yet giving a "ball" signal via his left arm.

A second baseman should not go so far out of his position as to take away a fly ball that is bound for the hands of a right fielder. And right fielders always wear finger mitts instead of the first baseman's mitt pictured in this cartoon.

A batter who has hit safely does not carry his bat around the bases with him.

Batters never stand on top of the home plate when at bat.

A base runner should not attempt to run another base runner off the bag with a fly ball in the air for it paves the way to a double play.

The runner in this cartoon is going in the wrong direction.

The umpire is giving the right decision in calling the runner "out" but wrong signal. The position of the umpire's hands represent the "safe" signal.

This Is Season For Home Runs

NEW YORK, June 15—Even though Babe Ruth is not setting the home run pace this season, due to his belated start, the major leagues promises to pass the 1,000 mark for their collective efforts if the present pace is maintained. The season is one-third gone, but 344 circuit clouts have been registered—155 in the National and 189 in the American—and the opportunity to eclipse last year's mark of 936 seems bright.

The Giants registered five home runs yesterday and a total of 18 hits in swamping Pittsburg 13 to 0, and increasing their lead to five full games over the Pirates. Snyder collected two and Irish Meusel walloped out his seventh. Douglas held his rivals easily in check.

Harry Heilmann, of the Tigers, and Tillie Walker, of the Athletics, hung up their eleventh circuit blows. The Detroit slugger's hit aided his team to take the first game of the series from the Yankees, 6-2, Sam Jones dropping his seventh straight start on the mound, but Walker, who also rapped out two other hits, couldn't stop his club's losing streak and the White Sox won, 6-5, with Faber pitching.

George Sisler's homer with the bases loaded, featured a St. Louis rally that enabled the Browns to nose out Washington, 7 to 6, and climb to within a game and a half of the Yankees.

The Braves experienced a sudden reversal in form after a brilliant winning streak and were victims of a Chicago slug fest, 15-2, with Statz starring at bat and in the field, while Vance and a re-arranged Brooklyn line-up checked St. Louis, 4 to 0.

Coveleskie outpitched Rip Collins and Cleveland blanked Boston 3 to 0, but the victory cost the Indians the services of their hard-hitting second baseman, Stephenson, who sustained a smashed finger and will be out of the game for some time.

Truck Skids, Turns Over; Driver Hurt

A mashed foot by Gibson McGlothlin of 1800 Waller street and a damaged truck was the result of an auto truck wreck on Gallia street near Mabert Road Wednesday afternoon. McGlothlin was driving at a fair rate of speed and when the truck hit the freshly sprinkled street it skidded and turned over. His foot was caught under the truck and slightly mashed.

HAIR DRESSING

In France women are dressing the hair to make the head look as small as possible. The locks are pulled straight back and coiled at the neck with the greatest simplicity. There is a tendency over there to keep the outline of the head small, but the hair is arranged softly about the face. This is much more flattering to the average woman.

GINGHAM CORSETS

Gingham corsets are certainly something new in the world of stays. You can get them in checks or plain material in all the delicate colors. They have elastic tops and are finished in a tailored style. They are said to launder satisfactorily.

PROGRESS OF WOMAN

IN all directions there are evidences that women are pushing earnestly forward to have and to hold their newly acquired righes. In this country, they are candidates for the senate and the house of representatives and in various states for practically every office from the governorship down. The number of appointive positions of which they are already in possession is large and the indications are that it will go on increasing. How women will vote at the forthcoming elections is a problem that not even the most seasoned political campaigners are able to solve. In short, the sway of women in American public life is plainly destined to be pervasive and powerful.

In Great Britain, women have long been eligible to county councils, and the other different bodies engaged in the work of local government. More recently they have won their way into the house of commons. For the present, they are stopped from membership of the house of lords, but the wabbling attitude displayed on the question of their admission by the committee on privileges is sufficient warrant for the assumption that the barriers will ere long be let down.

Even more symptomatic of the trend of the times is the news from Rome that the Pope has disregarded the conventions of centuries by installing in his own residence a woman as house-keeper and wardrobe maid. What this move may ultimately portend is it impossible to say, but it is not without significance that in other Christian sects women have been recently admitted to administrative posts and to the ministry itself. In vain did John Knox protest against the "Monstrous Regiment of Women." Time was when abbesses attended ecclesiastical councils and presided over joint houses of monks and nuns. In this respect there is no inherent improbability in the supposition that the wheel may come again full circle.

REGISTRATION OF ALIENS

UNDER the selective service law, in operation during the period the United States was engaged in war, aliens were listed with citizens of this government if they became within the ages fixed by law. The results were good, for the government was able to secure an important registry of residents.

Bills introduced in the senate and house respectively by Senator Shortridge of California and Representative Johnson of Washington provide for an annual registration of all aliens in the United States. This should include all aliens without respect to liability for military service.

The purposes of such listing of aliens would include protection to the government to a larger extent against radicalism, and at the same time it would give the aliens a closer relation to the government, federal and local. They could be helped easier if in want, and could be encouraged to prepare themselves for citizenship.

The Italian amabassador to the United States recently urged Italians who expected to remain in this country to prepare for citizenship. It is the right thing for all aliens who expect to remain in America. Others should not object to being listed by the government.

It seems reasonable that aliens listed by the government would feel a larger sense of responsibility to the general authorities and to the community in which they live. The primary purpose should be to encourage desirable persons to become citizens, and the effect would be to have a certain supervision of the movements of other aliens. If they refused to give an account of themselves, such aliens would have the alternative of returning to their own lands.

THE BIBLE IN PICTURES AND TEXT

By HELEN E. OHRENSCHALL

THE ISRAELITES SIN

BALAK brought Balaam to where he could see the children of Israel encamped and they built seven altars and offered up seven bullocks and rams. God met Balaam, who told Him of these. God commanded him to bless, not curse the people. Balak and Balaam went to other places and built more altars. The spirit of God came upon Balaam and he would not curse the people. Balak was angry and told him to return to his home.

Then the Moabites called the people to their feasts, they went and worshipped their gods and the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 15—Atlantic City's boardwalk is a slice of Broadway and Fifth Avenue transplanted to the ocean front. The first of the seasonal pilgrimages to the pleasure mecca is on. All the boulevardiers are there "doing their stuff" from Old Chelsea to the Inlet.

Th cinema queen with her pet goat and the matinee Apolla, marcelled, batless and white flanneled. The corpulent dowagers with corsets creaking, the kiddies with tugging balloons. The tramp of feet on the walk is as ceaseless as the swish of the ocean against the sandy beach.

Eern Evelyn Nesbit has deserted the White Way to sing "I'm a Broad-minded Broad from Broadway" in the supper club flaunting her name. The night I was there Evelyn was chaperoned by her mother. The life guards are acquiring their first coat of tan and fearless bathers leave the surf blue-chilled but happy.

Atlantic City presents the gay and the drab in its kaleidioscopic shifting and its sorrow is crystalized in the shuffling, trudging wheel chair pushers. There are recruited from life's army of the beaten—as shiftless as the lotus eaters from the Odyssey.

Ragged, gaunt and sin-stained, they move with weary steps behind the endless stream of wicker chariots filled with pleasuring philanderers off on a holiday. They gaze dreamily and with enduring eyes at the life that has passed them by.

There is a languorous lure to this city in cap and bells. The salt water taffy hutches, the sporty tog shops, the horses that race along the beach, the pony drawn carts, the huge nets that dip for the fish, the pier band concerts, the countless prize winning games—all are symbolical of a nation at play.

While in Atlantic City I saw one of the best known writers of underworld life and a man who is personally acquainted with hundreds of professional crooks. "The boardwalk is the place," he said, "where crooks come for a day or so to mingle with respectability. I met ten celebrated criminals in an hour's stroll this morning. There is an unwritten agreement that they will not play their art while there."

Over in Bryant Park a legless man sits in the shade with his blacking box in front of him. His is the philosophy of cheerfulness. He smiles at passers-by and calls out playfully to the children. Eighteen years ago he won a high-school running race, beginning further down town and ending in the middle of the park.

Down along the water front the docks are miniature margins of relief from the heat for the slum dwellers. The women sit along the piers in wrappers and the children play scotch on the planking. There is a quiet beauty about the river with its flashing crystal lights and ebony shadows. About 10 o'clock the hokey-pokey ice cream men arrive with their penny wares. Once in a while a hurdy gurdy man gives the children a free treat on his way home and they dance square dances with the reckless abandon of youth. The young men entertain the crowds now and then by holding swimming carnivals in the water. They are better swimmers than are found at the bathing beaches. The dock becomes a strip of all nations and faces that are criss-crossed with worry become smiling again. The Italians sing their arias in lusty tones and now and then a Spanish seaman thrums a fandango on his guitar.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Why Are Fathers

Why are fathers anyhow?
All mine does is raise a row
With Ma an' me, an' chew and spit;
He doesn't ever work a bit.
An' Ma she washes by the pound
An' all Pa does is set around
An' chew tobacco that she buys.
I wish I wuz about his size,
I'd take him out an' start a fight;
I'd make him treat my mother right;
I'd make him work by honest sweat
An' let my mother set an' set
In that arm chair he's worn clean through;
I'd let him know I meant it, too.
But what's the use o' dreamin' dreams,
An' what's the use o' schemin' schemes?
'Cause Fathers may be necessary;
But when I get big an' marry
I hope I'll be a better one
Than Pa is. Hope I'll have a better son
Than I am, but couldn't have a better wife
Than mother is, to save my life!

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You always treat an older woman with respect.

In these days, when mothers seem as young as their daughters it is natural that much of the formality we once associated with older women has disappeared.

However, the thoughtful girl never forgets the courtesies due her elders, and she embraces every opportunity to be of service.

Her Denomination

A woman went into a store and asked the clerk if he could change a bill for her.

"What denomination?" asked he.

"Methodist," was the prompt reply.

What He Hoped For

During an electric storm lightning struck the residence of banker C. B. Kagy of Fort Gibson, Okla. After the family had recovered from the shock, Nash, the 4-year-old son exclaimed, "I hope our house will never do that way again."

When his mother explained to him that lightning had struck the house Nash asked, "Who made lightning?"

"God made it," responded his mother.

"Well," said Nash, "I hope that God will never make lightning again."

A Veteran But Good

"Little boy," remarked the kind, well-meaning man, "is that your mother with the beautiful set of furs?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Well, do you know what poor animal it is that has to suffer in order that your mother may have such furs?"

"Yes, sir—father."

—Chicago Herald.

The Difference

"Mabel," said Grandmother, "why do you call these dances of yours by such strange names, and why do you have a new set of names for them every season? They're just the same old dances all the time, aren't they?"

"Oh, no, Grandmother," Mabel explained, "there's all the difference in the whirled."

How To Find Out

Tom: Why do they call them brokers?

Harry: Have some dealings with them and you'll know.

Maid: Not always.
